VOL. 3 ISSUE 5 JULY/AUGUST 2020

VETERANS CONNECT

Education Resources for Veterans & their Families

Two of the most pressing concerns of veterans during the stay-at-home orders were employment and education. This issue will provide a brief overview of education resources of particular interest to our California veterans and their family members.

This newsletter has been designed for easy photocopying and deploying at your curbside service, if applicable. It is important to note that California veterans and their family members have an additional set of educational benefits beyond those available from the VA. We have attempted to outline a large range of options for both veterans and their family members seeking education benefits. Remember that a good place to start is by making contact with your local CVSO. The directory of offices is available here:
